disabilities, and the outcome document of the United Nations Conference on Sustainable Development,[5] which contains references to the inclusion of the rights, needs and concerns of persons with disabilities in sustainable policies and practices,[6]

Gravely concerned that persons with disabilities are still largely invisible in the implementation, monitoring and evaluation of the Millennium Development Goals, and noting that, while progress has already been made by Governments, the international community and the United Nations system in mainstreaming disability as an integral part of the development agenda, major challenges remain,

Concerned that the continuing lack of reliable data and information on disability and the situation of persons with disabilities at the national, regional and global levels contributes to the invisibility of persons with disabilities in official statistics, presenting an obstacle to achieving disability-inclusive development planning and implementation,

Stressing the importance of using standardized and tested tools and methods for collecting, analysing, monitoring and evaluating data on the situation of persons with disabilities and the need to have internationally comparable data to monitor progress on disability-inclusive development policies,

1. Welcomes the holding on 23 September 2013 of the high-level meeting of the General Assembly, at the level of Heads of State and Government, with the overarching theme "The way forward: a disability-inclusive development agenda towards 2015 and beyond";

2. Also welcomes the report of the Secretary-General entitled "Realization of the Millennium Development Goals and internationally agreed development goals for persons with disabilities: a disability-inclusive development agenda towards 2015 and beyond",[7] and of the recommendations contained therein;

3. Urges Member States, international and regional organizations, regional integration organizations and financial institutions to make a concerted effort to integrate disability in the monitoring and evaluation of the development goals;

4. Encourages the mobilization of resources on a predictable and sustainable basis at all levels for the successful implem entation of the World Programme of Action concerning Disabled Persons[1] and the Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities,[3] and the strengthening of international cooperation and its promotion in support of national efforts, in particular in developing countries;

5. Requests the United Nations system to facilitate technical assistance, within existing resources, including the provision of assistance for capacity-building and for the collection and compilation of national and regional data and statistics on disability, in particular to developing countries, and in this regard requests the Secretary-General, in accordance with existing guidelines on disability statistics, to analyse, publish and disseminate disability data and statistics in future periodic reports, as appropriate, on the realization of the Millennium Development Goals and other internationally agreed development goals for persons with disabilities;

6. Also requests the United Nations system to enhance existing methodologies of disability data collection and analysis to obtain internationally comparable data on the situation of persons with disabilities and to regularly include relevant disability data in its statistical publications and publications in the field of economic and social development;

7. Requests the Secretary-General:

(a) To submit information on the implementation of the present resolution to the General Assembly at its sixty-ninth session;

(b) To submit the sixth review and appraisal of the World Programme of Action, to the General Assembly in advance of and as a contribution to the high-level meeting of the General Assembly on the realization of the Millennium Development Goals and other internationally agreed development goals for persons with disabilities, and in this regard, requests all United Nations bodies and agencies, through the Secretary-General, to provide an analysis of the overall situation of persons with disabilities within the context of development, based on available data and in accordance with their individual mandates;
